

RMS Olympic B-Deck 2nd Class Smoke Room

The Olympic had this green flooring pattern, but this does not confirm that the Titanic had the same colour or pattern. TISM V2 p292 says this room had dark green leather chairs, which suggests the Titanic also had a green floor. However it seems that often the two ships had mostly the same floor patterns but were differentiated with alternate colour schemes, so it's not out of the question that the Titanic had the same pattern but a different colour, probably red, but if the chairs were definitely green, this may not be the case.

© John Hodge May 2014 published under Creative Commons license BY-NC-SA - meaning it can be used or adapted for non-commercial use, as long as credit is given to this author and the resulting work also carries the same publishing license. For commercial use please send email through form on <http://titanic-ma.weebly.com>

